INHALATION
—FOR THE—
Consumption

Dr. Warren's New Remedy,

Astonishing cures of Lung Diseases have been effected by the use of Dr. Warren's

Inhaling Balm.

A medical preparation, for inhaling, directly into the lungs, where the local disease is. The profession with the fullest confidence the most medicinal agent ever employed in the cure of Consumption and Asthma. Many of these cases were been cured, or made comfortable by the Medicine, may be seen in the hands of the proprietors. It has accomplished the cures in the city of Boston and vicinity, producing an impression on diseases never before witnessed by the medical world.

Addressed to health to those upon whom disease has fastened fearful advances, and all remedies have proved unavailing. Be... and inhale it, it enters every air cell, and carries the healing balm to the diseased parts. Its action is mild, but effectual, its salutary effects are truly astonishing. The Inhaler is made of silver and is admirably adapted to its purpose. On the closest inspection and scrutiny of the principal agent and all our preparations will be found perfect.

Tonic Cherry Cordial.

This stomach and improves digestion, and in all cases of debility it is a powerful tonic. It is adapted to those cases that constricted state of the stomach and bowels, so often met with in long standing Consumption, in relieving those distressing symptoms, it is a safe remedy in the hands of Physicians. Used in connection with the Tonic Balm, the combination of Cod Liver Oil, according to Dr. Warren's receipt, it will have a curative power far superior to any single medicine.

Any person enclosing $5 to PERRY, No 1 Cornhill, Boston, will receive a package containing a bottle of the Balm and the Cordial, with the Inhaler, in a neat box by Express, to any part of the United States by express.

GREEN & AYER proprietors. For sale by Dr. ERKA PERRY, Gen'l Agent, No 1 Cornhill, Boston; G. F. Sargent, Bangor, and by sale of all druggists.

Dr. Ira Warren's Cod Liver Oil, Lime & Sugar of Milk.

The value of Cod Liver Oil as a medicine in Consumption is now generally admitted. It is a fact that it is the primal defect in the system, which is the growth of cells—the nourishment according to Dr. Burnett, from the minute particle of oil with albumen, which is the vital force of vitality. The Phosphorus has been proved to promote the growth of bone throughout both the vegetable and animal kingdom.

The Milk, manufactured solely from the Cod Liver Oil, being a supporter of nature, and having a powerful alterative effect, and the above remedies combined and properly combined with the Cod Liver preparation, removing the obstructions and nourishing all the old, and giving a healthy nourishment to the system, is the medicine for the sick, disturbed by a healthy living.

Having had special practicum Throat Diseases, Dr. Warren resorts directly to the seat of the disease, the excellence of this method is plain, appreciated by the profession and a trial of it will commend itself to the people generally.

PERRY, General Agents, No. 1 Cornhill. G. F. Sargent & Co., Agents for Bangor, and by all druggists.

THE GREAT American Discovery
—IS—
Barber's Diapent.

This Medicine is composed principally of herbs, of those substances and properties which when applied, instantaneously rectify the whole system, allaying every pain in a few minutes! You have only to see it, when you will be convinced that no error offered to the public, for the relief of the distressed, possesses it so high a degree and in so many properties. Its action is all prompt, powerful, and effectual, without endangering the system.

It stretches the flesh to the one, relaxes the muscular powers, rectifying free and unfettered, and in more been rendered by the action almost entirely useless. It is, and to the suffering as the greatest the arts, and no one would ever about be without this sovereign balm after he witnessed its magic influence over disease, its potence in relieving pain, its power of restoring circulation of its unquestionable, in actual experiment makes no strange transcendent virtues. Before the numerous testimonials in the hands which were given voluntarily and cheerfully in a sense of gratitude and justice, by persons of the highest respectability, and their statements of no doubt, you will find it has no in the whole world, for a speedy, certain, cure of Rheumatism. It will also cure Lame Back and Side and Back, Cramp, Contractions, Weakness of Joints, Spine, Chest and all Nervous Diseases from the Spine. A MARVELLOUS REMEDY
For a Marvelous Age!

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT!
The Grand External Remedy.

By the aid of a microscope we see millions of little openings on the surface of our bodies. Through these this Ointment, when rubbed on the skin, is carried to any organ or inward part. Diseases of the Kidneys, Disorders of the Lives, affections of the Heart, inflammation, Asthma, Coughs and Colds, are by its means effectually cured. Every housewife knows that salt passes through bone or meat of any thickness. This healing Ointment far more readily penetrates through any bone or fleshy part of the living body, curing the most dangerous inward complaints that cannot be reached by other means.

Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, and Scorbutic Humors.

No remedy has ever done so much for the cure of diseases of the Skin, whatever form they may assume, as this Ointment. No case of Salt Rheum, Scurvy, Sore Head, Scrofula, or Erysipelas, can long withstand its influence. The inventor has travelled over many parts of the globe, visiting the principal hospitals, disposing his Ointment, giving advice as to its application, and has thus been the means of restoring countless numbers to health.

Sore Legs, Sore Breasts, Wounds and Ulcers.

Some of the most scientific surgeons now rely solely on the use of this wonderful Ointment, when having to cope with the worst cases of sores, wounds, ulcers, glandular swellings, and tumors. Professor Holloway has, by command of the Allied Governments, despatched to the hospitals of the East large shipments of his Ointment, to be used under the direction of the Medical Staff, in the worst cases of wounds. It will cure any ulcer, glandular swelling, stiffness or contraction of the joints, even of 20 years' standing.

Piles and Fistulas.

These and other similar distressing complaints can be effectually cured by the Ointment be well rubbed in over the parts affected, and by otherwise following the printed directions found each pot.

Both the Ointment and Pills should be used in the following cases:

Bunions,	Piles—	Sprains
Burns,	Blind	Stiffness
Chapped Hands	Blotches	Swelled Glands
Chilblains	Bowel Complaints	Stiff Joints
Fistulas	Costiveness	Ulcers
Gout	Dropsy	Venereal Sores
Lumbago	Dysentery	Wounds of all kinds
Mercurial Eruptions	Erysipelas
	Flatulency
	Inflammation
	Jaundice
	Liver Complaint
	Obstinate Cases
	Rheumatism
	Skin Diseases
	Sore Legs
	Sore Throats
	Sores of all kinds

Sold at the Manufactories of Professor Holloway, 80 Maiden Lane, New York, and 244 Strand, London, and by all respectable Druggists and Dealers of Medicines throughout the United States, and the civilized world. Pots, at 25 cts, 62½ cents, and $1 each.

There is a considerable saving by taking the larger sizes.

N. B. Directions for the guidance of patients in every disorder are affixed to each Pot.

BOUNTY LANDS.
IMPORTNT NOTICE TO SOLDIERS, SEAMEN,
AND THEIR
Widows and Minor Children.

A BILL has passed both Houses of Congress, granting Bounty Lands to the following classes of persons, viz:

One hundred and sixty acres to all who have SERVED FOURTEEN DAYS IN ANY WAR of the United States, provided they have not received Land.

One hundred and twenty acres to all who have so served and have received 40 acres.

Eighty acres to all who have so served and have received 80 acres.

And if the soldier has deceased without obtaining 160 acres, the same allowance shall be made to his Widow, or if no Widow, to his Minor Children.

Service in the Revolution—in the War of 1812—and in all the Indian Wars, is provided for by said Act.

And all who served the above period in the drafted Militia of the State of Maine in the year 1839, in what is known as the

AROOSTOOK WAR,

Are entitled to its benefits. Also the Militia called out by State Authority, and who served the above period, and whose services have been paid for by the United States, and their Widows, and Minor Children.

The subscriber is prepared to receive and prosecute all claims arising under said Act, with promptness and despatch, and upon as reasonable terms as other Agents.

He has many Military Rolls and Copies in his possession, and especially very full copies of the Militia drafted for the Aroostook service in 1839.

As inducements to commit claims to his charge, he ventures to rely upon his long and well known experience and success in those of a similar nature.

He will, if preferred, Purchase the Land Warrants at fair rates.

Application may be made to him at his Office, or if requested by letter he will send to claimants Declarations, with suitable directions, which may be executed without the parties leaving their homes.

To secure the receipt of a Warrant early, apply early.

To Holders of LAND WARRANTS!!

John L. Hodsdon,

DOW'S BLOCK, Hammond Street, Bangor, would call the attention of those who may have LAND WARRANTS to sell, to the fact that he has orders for large numbers of Land Warrants from parties in the West, who authorize him to pay for the same the highest market value in CASH. Any person having a Warrant may therefore be assured that he can obtain from Mr. H. the most favorable price for it.

To those who desire to Locate their Warrants, he would further say that he has skilled and careful agents in the States of WISCONSIN AND IOWA,
and in the Territory of Minnesota, who will locate any Warrants on the most desirable lands without advance pay.

This Day Published!
EDITH,
The Quaker's Daughter.
A TALE OF PURITAN TIMES.
BY ONE OF HER DESCENDANTS.

12 mo. cloth. Price $1,25.

A more charming tale has rarely made its appearance in any country. The scene is laid in Boston, at the time of the religious persecution of the Quakers by the Puritans, and this circumstance adds very great interest to a tale which does not require any such fictitious aid, but whose intrinsic qualities are sufficient to fasten the reader's attention, and deeply move his sympathies, as well as enforce an admirable moral lesson.

We add a paragraph from the book itself:

"The world is awake to that tragedy history of the Quakers in New England fills a page in her records which the descendants of our Puritan ancestors would gladly see forever torn from the eyes of men. The time of these occurrences is yet too recent, for justice to either party to be awarded.—The consciousness of a cruel intolerance on the one hand, and the remembrance of wrong on the other, are yet too fresh in the minds of their descendants, and years must pass away before either can regard the other with impartiality. But our historians and others should remember that the stain is only made deeper through attempts to erase those deeds of cruelty by false representations of their victims, and it becomes the duty of every faithful representative of those times to depict their characters with fairness, and to do justice to the motives that influenced their conduct.

"We trust that the time is not far distant when the spirit that still characterizes New England men, especially her clergy, will give place to a more enlightened feeling of Christian brotherhood. Let it be remembered that the time was, when the Quakers stood alone against abuse that are now cried down by the majority, and if their peculiarities are fast disappearing from our sight, their principles remain."

GREAT
American and Foreign Office,
—FOR—
Securing Patents for Inventions.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS WITH THE U. S. PATENT OFFICE, WASHINGTON.

R. H. EDDY,
No. 76 State Street, opposite Kilby St.,
BOSTON.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS.—The subscriber, (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office under the Act of 1837,) determined to present advantages in applying for patents, superior to those offered inventors by others, has made arrangements, whereby, on application, his papers prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal, through him, within thirty days after the rejection.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate.—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted by the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining patents.

Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers and Drawings necessary to the procural of patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents. All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

Copies of the claims of any patent furnished for one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. Patents secured in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries, through agents of the highest respectability.

R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of Patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. EDDY, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office as Solicitor for procuring Patents. They were few, if any, persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office, and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

[From the present Commissioner.]

"AUGUST, 7, 1855.—During the time I have held the office of Commissioner of Patents R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the Office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.

Mr. Fillmore's nomination by the National Know Nothing Convention was carried, it is said, by nearly the entire Southern vote, aided by some twenty members from the North. After the extensive secession of northern members, but few remained from some of the northern States, and those mostly of the Silver Grey order. The Southern men are satisfied with the platform, which was adopted by the National Council, as it is essentially pro-slavery, omitting to recognise any right of Congress to prohibit slavery in the Territories, and using language which may easily be construed to suit Southern views." The actual number of votes given for Mr. Fillmore, at the informal balloting was 71, and there were 69 against him. After the secession of northern members, the formal balloting was had, when the vote for a whole state was in some cases thrown by a few delegates only. In this way, Fillmore's vote reported at 170.

The northern seceders represent the sentiments of probably four-fifths of the order north, when they declare their opposition to the nomination and the platform as essentially pro-slavery, and their readiness to unite with the Republicans in favor of freedom.

Twenty-three of the members of the Convention voted at the informal balloting for George Law, and six for Sam Houston. They have entered a protest against Fillmore's nomination on the following among other grounds:

His nomination we regard as an utter betrayal of the great American movement—a traitorous attempt to wrest it from its purpose, and make it minister to the selfish ambition of the leaders and demagogues of the dead organization of the past.

He was forced upon the State of New York by Southern votes, against the wish of our State delegates, and from those States which no man pretends can carry their votes for an American President.

He was forced upon the State of New York against the express wish of a large majority of our State Legislature, against the express wish of a majority of the State officers, and we repeat, against the express wish of two-thirds of our delegates in the Convention.

He was nominated by a majority of the States, or by the delegates of a majority of the States; several States were permitted to cast their votes through a single delegate, who cast the whole number of votes to which his State would have been entitled. Such votes were cast by parties who had previously protested against the proceedings and retired from the Convention.

At a meeting of the seceders, it was proposed that a National Convention be held at New York, on the 12th of June, but an Executive Committee which was appointed has power to change the time.

Fillmore's nomination is looked upon as simply binding a bargain between the Silver Greys and the Southern slavery propagandists, wherein the former agree that the largest liberty shall be given for the extension of the peculiar institution; and that to this end they will draw off all the votes they can, for Fillmore in the North, with the real expectation of thereby aiding the election of a pro-slavery democratic candidate to be nominated at Cincinnati.

To this we append the opinion of the Newburyport Herald, one of the most cautious and conservative papers at the North:

The American nominations appear under the telegraphic head—Millard Fillmore and Andrew Jackson Donelson. And to such an end has all this great excitement come at last—to a dead, an eternally dead hop. Mr. Fillmore is a very respectable man, who accidentally had the honor of being President of the United States. It is probable that he will decline the nomination as soon as he hears of it. He is now in Europe. If he does not, it is all the same. He is an extreme fogy in all his views and if he had not signed the fugitive slave law he could not carry two States, and now he can't carry one. Mr. Donelson was once smiled upon by Gen. Jackson; but if the spirit-rapping theory is true, it is wonderful that old Jackson's spirit has not knocked out his brains before this. Probably it would, if he had any to spare. All that we ever knew of his doing was to bankrupt the old hero by his management about the Hermitage estate; but as he is nominated by a party that can never hope to succeed, it is well enough.

THE SEARCH FOR THE PACIFIC.—The propeller Arctic, which left New York in search of the Pacific, had a very severe passage, and put into Halifax with eight feet of water in her hold, received from shipping seas. She was twice in imminent peril, and preparations were made to lower the boats.

STEAMER FOR ST. JOHN.—The Steamer Adelaide is advertised to commence her spring trips between Portland and Eastport and St. John, next Monday. She is a large Steamer, nearly new, and has excellent accommodations.

THE ICEBERGS. The Journal of Commerce says:—"The Asia, on Tuesday last, in lat. 44.29, lon. 49.18, off Newfoundland encountered icebergs and field ice, which she was eight hours in passing. At one time eleven were counted, one of them of such dimensions that at a distance of 4 miles its peak was in range with the mast of an American clipper, midway between the iceberg and steamer."

HEDDOO NOMINATION OF FILLMORE.—If Fillmore is to be a candidate and it is now settled that he is, we rejoice at his nomination thus early. Men will now take sides.—Straight whigs will take sides, and we shall soon know who we are to rely on in the next canvass. We shall know who go with this know-nothing raft in Maine.—Belfast Free Press. (dem.)

A down east skipper with a boy was trying to manage a small sloop, when the master of a Liverpool packet, who had been dodging out of their way, incensed at their awkwardness, cried out:

"What sloop is that?"

"The Sally, from Maine," responded the intrepid Yankee.

"Why command her?"

"Well," replied the skipper, "I undertook to; but I knew she'd too much for me!"

THE PRIZE DECLAMATIONS.—A very general interest was manifested to hear the Prize Declamations last evening, by members of the Boys' High School, under the charge of Mr. Drake; and the City Hall was crowded to its utmost capacity by ladies and gentlemen, who take an interest and a pride in our public schools. They listened with gratification and delight to the highly creditable manner in which the boys and young men acquitted themselves. We had the pleasure some weeks since of hearing some of the performances of these pupils in the line of declamation at the Girls' High School Room, and then noticed that many of them showed a remarkably just perception of the spirit and sentiment of the pieces they recited, and imparted a large degree of the proper oratorical effect to the delivery. And satisfactory as that exhibition was, the performances of last evening evinced a marked improvement in many respects. As prizes are to be awarded (at the School Examination, we believe,) graduated as nearly as possible to the merits of the performers, according to the best judgment of an intelligent committee, it would be improper for us to make any special comments upon individual speakers or pieces. In justice to the teachers, however, and his accomplished and effective assistant, Mister Chase, we will here say, that the Boys' High School has been conducted by them to the entire approbation of all who have had occasion to note its progress and discipline, so far as we have heard opinions expressed—and that these teachers possess high qualifications for their important trust.

LECTURES ON THE PHILOSOPHY OF LIGHT. The first of Professor Grant's lectures on this interesting scientific subject come off this evening, at Norombega Hall. EDITH HALE. A Village Story, by Theodore Tolman. Boston: Phillips, Sampson & Co.

This is a well written and entertaining story, dedicated to the publishers—a compliment which shows a just appreciation of the honorable and liberal treatment which meritorious though unknown authors uniformly receive at their hands. The book contains attractive pictures of New England life and manners, which will be read with pleasure by our home people. The story is drawn out with ability and humor, is well stored with incident, and will take a high rank among the light literature of the day.

WOLFSPEN. An authentic account of things there and thereunto pertaining, as they are and have been. By J. B. Boston: Phillips, Sampson & Co.

This volume, which has been for some time announced, has been looked for with a good deal of interest. We have not had time to examine it; but it is said to be a highly original book—of strong and positive character, and without much attempt at artistic construction, but giving piquant descriptions of country life, and presenting many touches of thrilling narrative. The scene is partly laid in Oxford County in this State, partly in New York and partly in North Carolina.

ROMANCE OF THE HAREM. By Miss Pardoe. New York: W. P. Fetridge & Co. 1856.

One of the most interesting works of this celebrated authoress, published in a compact and handsomely printed volume at the low price of 50 cents (paper cover.). Miss Pardoe is a writer of strong native sense, combined with great descriptive powers, and a judgment in the use of language which exempts her books from that dryness of style, so disagreeable to the discriminating reader. The Romance of the Harem is perhaps better supplied with incident than any other of her works.

The Missing Steamer Pacific.

THE DANGERS OF WINTER TRIPS—PREVALENCE OF ICEBERGS—THE WAY NO ESCAPE THERE.—The non-arrival of the Pacific and the tedious passage of the Persia have directed attention anew to the dangers incident to ocean steam navigation at this season of the year. The most formidable of these, far from land, are the dense fogs off the Banks of Newfoundland, and the immense fields of ice which are driven by the sea currents from the high northern latitudes in which they are formed into that portion of the Atlantic, where they cross the routes of vessels in their transit to and from Europe and the United States.

The calamity which befel the Arctic in her passage from Liverpool to New York in October, 1854, by coming in collision with the Vesta in a thick fog off Cape Race, aroused public attention to the necessity of adopting some measures to prevent a like occurrence. Among these, water-tight compartments in vessels, life-boats in larger numbers than had been previously considered necessary, fog signals and true compasses were mentioned and discussed; but the most efficient and feasible plan was that suggested by Mr. Forbes, of Boston, to Lieut. Maury, and by him communicated to Walker R. Jones. The plan of Mr. Forbes was to have two lanes apportioned for transatlantic steam track—the one to be used in going, and the other in returning.

This suggestion drew from a committee of underwriters, merchants and others from Boston, a request to Lieut. Maury to examine the subject, and prepare a chart exhibiting the routes proposed.

In compliance with this suggestion, Lieut. Maury instituted a thorough investigation, and prepared a chart, accompanied by such observations as seemed to him needful, all of which were made public in the seventh edition of his sailing directions, published in July last.

He found that a breadth of ocean three hundred miles in width was traversed by the English and American steamers, in any part of which a sailing vessel by night or in a dense fog might come in collision with the steamer. He proposed to lay off from this breadth of ocean a lane twenty or twenty-five miles broad, as its northern border, and another fifteen or twenty miles broad, near its southern limit, and recommended that steamers coming westwardly to use the former, and those going eastwardly the latter. His plan met with general approbation, but has not been carried into practice.

The second and perhaps the greatest source of danger—that from running ice—could not be avoided by the means thus indicated, but might, under certain circumstances, be largely increased.

Almost every year icebergs, either in the form of icebergs, immense islands, or extended fields, crosses some frequented part of the Atlantic Ocean, in a southwesterly direction. This sometimes appears as early as February, again as late as August; but the usual period of its occurrence is from March to July. It is found most frequently between longitudes 40 and 50 degrees, and occasionally east of 40 degrees.—However early or late it appears, it is never the product of the season in which it is seen in lower latitudes, but is often drifted about for many months—nay, years—after it is fractured from its original position—now stranded and now floating at large, in single huge masses, or in great fields, before it obtains a position so far south as to be encountered by vessels on their pathway across the ocean.

There are two distinct streams of ice. A lesser one, which passes down the coast of Labrador and east of Newfoundland, and carries the ice in view of the coast; and a larger and more direct one from the coast of Greenland, which flows in a southwest direction between 45 and 50 degrees of longitude, and loses itself in the Gulf stream, or is dissolved as far south as latitude 44 degrees.

This general direction of the ice-flow led Mr. Redfield to the conclusion that nothing short of a vast current, acting in a southwesterly course, and passing under the Gulf Stream, could carry these immense bodies of ice forward in this direction. The result of the coast survey observations, made at a later date, have most singularly corroborated the truth of this hypothesis.

"When the sun arose, the ice was visible as far as the eye could reach in an unbroken line from N. E. by E., by the northward to N. W. by W., at the same time icebergs innumerable in every direction, forming one of the most magnificent sights I ever beheld.

"The first iceberg we saw was in latitude 43 degrees, longitude 48 degrees, 30 minutes, and the last in latitude 42 degrees, 20 minutes, longitude 50 degrees. I am quite sure there was an unbroken field of ice of that extent, and from what I heard from Captain Bailey, of the packet ship South America, I have no doubt that the field of ice extended to latitude 40 degrees, 30 minutes, where Captain Bailey fell in with it on the morning of the 18th. Several other ships also fell in with it in the same longitude, and were completely stopped, giving them an opportunity of killing seals, which were out in great numbers. Some of the icebergs I estimated at little less than a mile long, and from one to two hundred feet high. The field of ice was in large masses, some of them not less than twenty feet square, by six feet thick, or more."

The above notices of drift-ice, taken from a large number of similar observations, show that ice may be met in quantities sufficiently large to endanger the safety of vessels in any latitude north of 42 degrees, and that its presence in a still lower latitude is not an unusual circumstance.

The observations likewise confirm the fact that, acting in obedience to the known law of the polar currents, the tendency of the drift is always to the southwest, and that its extreme limit is fixed with tolerable certainty at the fortieth degree of longitude. Within these limits it rapidly finds its way to the warm waters of the Gulf stream and is dissolved.

The field of ice, at the present moment, is rapidly drifting down, in the limits we have given it. The Persia, in her passage here, was placed in great jeopardy by becoming entangled in it, in latitude 41 degrees, and was only saved by the prudence of her commander. The Arago reports an encounter with the ice in her outward voyage, and the Alabama, just reported at Halifax, was surrounded by ice for twenty-four hours off the Banks of Newfoundland, whither she went in search of the Pacific.

The practical deductions are clear and obvious. Neither dense fog nor drift ice impede the course of vessels upon the broad ocean east of the fortieth degree of longitude, which is within about five hundred miles of Newfoundland. Up to this limit, the course to be pursued, so far as these dangers are concerned, is of little consequence; but when this line is met, it does appear to be the part of ordinary prudence to diverge from a pathway beset with these dangers, into a more southerly one, even at the expense of a voyage a day or two longer.

The Dead Men's Train on the Old Colony Road.

SPIRITS RUNNING THE LOCOMOTIVE

The Old Colony Memorial, published at Plymouth, narrates an incident which is sufficiently marvellous to please the most ardent believers in "signs and wonders." It states, as a matter of common notoriety in Plymouth, that during the last summer months, between three and four o'clock in the morning, there was regularly and distinctly heard upon the railroad the whistle as of an approaching train. As it was well known, however, that no train passed over the road at such a time in the morning, four gentlemen at the Samoset House determined to investigate the mystery. Accordingly, unknown to any one, they one morning about two o'clock stationed themselves on the railroad track, about a mile from town, and awaited the arrival of the supernatural visitor. They did not watch long; nor wait in vain, for immediately they distinctly heard, far off in the north, the sound of a railway whistle, and presently the distant clatter of wheels was heard—louder, nearer, nearer still it came—the click of the rails in their chairs, the rush of steam was as plain in their ears as if the lantern glared before them—the shriek of a demon whistle close at hand made them leap from the track, as the train thundered down the grade—the hot breath of the panting steed was in their very faces as it passed—as the unearthly scream ceased, they heard the brakemen screwing up their brakes, the tinkle of a bell and the sound of meeting cars, as if the invisible spectre monster of the road had reached his journey's end.

About a month since, says the Memorial, one of the watchers visited a spirit circle in Boston, where he was an entire stranger to all present, save one, to whom he had never revealed the summer incident, when the engineer of the spectral train held spiritual converse with the astonished company. A protracted sitting was suddenly brought to a close, by the communing spirit announcing that he must go.

"Where and for what?" some one asked, "To run the train," was the prompt answer. The sitters looked each upon the other, and "What train?" was the universal exclamation. "The Old Colony train," was the reply. "Do you mean for me to understand that at this hour of the night a train of cars passes over that railway?" There was a long pause. Slowly and deliberately, as if making no common revelation, the arm of the medium moved at last, and the pencil wrote these words: "In life I was an engineer upon that road. At stated intervals, the train manned by mortal eyes takes the spirits of those dead to the Pilgrim home they contemplated by their lives. [illegible] will say whether he can spare them."

BOSTON, No. 2 Olive Street, Nov. 23, 1848

DR. HAYDEN: Dear Sir—On the 16th of this month I was taken dangerously ill, with severe pains throughout my whole body, with much fever, and great distress in my head. By advice, I concluded to give your pills a trial. I took three, which afforded me almost instant relief, and I for one can truly say that, without any exception, they are the best medicine I have ever used. I also recommended them to a sick friend, who informs me he has received great benefit from their use, and extols them above all others.

I remain, sir, your obedient servant,

COUGHS AND COLDS. At this season of the year, when coughs and colds are so prevalent, a reliable remedy in such cases is important to all the afflicted. Of Dr. Stone's medicine, which will be found advertised in our paper, the Montreal Pilot says:

The astonishing demand for G. W. Stone's Cough Medicine, and its complete success in curing affections of the throat and lungs, fully proves that we were justified in recommending it to our readers on its introduction to the public; and we can safely assert that no remedy has ever become so deservedly popular in the same space of time.—[Lowell News.

☞ The old and true maxim that an ounce of preventative is worth a pound of cure, will be fully realized by those who make use of G. W. Stone's Liquid Cathartic and Family Physic, as it cleanses the blood from all impurity, frees the stomach from bile, produces a healthy action of the liver, and perfectly regulates the bowels; it also removes all local pains, prevents and cures dysentery, diarrhoea, cholera morbus, or cholera, strengthens the whole system, and is perfectly agreeable to the taste.

Lectures on the Philosophy of Light!

PROFESSOR ROBERT GRANT, of New York City, inventor of the Calcium Light for Light House illumination, has been engaged to deliver Two Lectures on the Philosophy of Light, at Norombega Hall, on SATURDAY and MONDAY, March 1 and 3.

The first Lecture, on Saturday evening, will illustrate the physical properties of light, and its influence upon material unorganized nature, and explain many utilitarian purposes and recent useful applications which have been projected, such as Calcium light-house illumination, lighting cities with one light, &c.

The second Lecture, on Monday evening, will consider Light in reference to its influence upon organized nature. The questions—"Are the planets inhabited," "How far do climatic influences affect the development of men and animals"—will be elucidated.

These Lectures will be copiously and beautifully illustrated with the incidentally illuminating the Hall with apparently the light of day, together with numerous Chemical and Philosophical experiments, such as cannot fail to be highly instructive, useful and amusing.

Cheap & Convenient Building.

Door, Sash and Blind Factory.

A. DUNBAR

HAS been very successful in completing several contracts for Door Frames, Doors, Window Frames and Sashes, and Blinds, for good dwelling-houses, and other buildings to be erected in this city, the coming season. He has excellent workmen in his employ, and has superior stock, so that he is now able to supply to those about to build the best articles of Door Frames, Window Frames, Sashes, and Blinds, made to any dimensions and of superior quality, either for a whole building or for a less quantity. The trouble and expense of building is very much lessened by having these articles made separately, so that the carpenters have only to put them in their place in the structure.

The business has now become so well systemized that only a small margin is left in knowing before hand the cost of a dwelling-house, while the work is of a uniform excellent quality.

Any one interested can examine specimens of the work at the factory, near the Rose Place, or at the store of M. S. Jackson, on Exchange st., and at either place any article may be obtained or large quantities ordered.

Mr. Dunbar is also prepared to furnish Window Blinds ready painted, and will hang them at the shortest notice.

By long experience, and by determined perseverance, the subscriber is now enabled to suit his customers, both in quality and price, and so well organized is the business that no man should now think of building in the old and slow and imperfect methods.

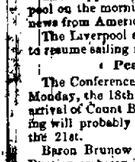
ARRIVAL OF THE



AMERICA,

AT HALIFAX.

HALIFAX, N. S., Feb. 29.

The royal mail steamship America, from Liverpool, which port she left on Saturday, the 16th, arrived at Halifax at half past 2 o'clock, this morning. She brings 93 passengers.

She brings no tidings of the passing steamship Pacific.

The steamship Hermann arrived at Southampton, on the morning of Sunday, the 10th.

The steamship Arago sailed from Southampton on Wednesday, the 13th.

The steamship Baltic arrived on the 13th, at a quarter-past 1, P. M.

The steamship Ericsson arrived at Southampton on the morning of the 14th, towing the Dutch brig Anna Maria, which was found in distress with a valuable cargo. She towed the brig 350 miles.

The Clipper Dreadnought arrived at Liverpool on the morning of Saturday, 24th, bringing news from America to January 26.

The Liverpool and Philadelphia steamships are to resume sailing next month.

Peace Congress.

The Conferences were expected to open on Monday, the 18th, but on account of the non-arrival of Count Buol and Ali Pacha, the meeting will probably be postponed till Thursday, the 21st.

Baron Brunow has arrived at Paris, and the Russian embassy is once more brilliant.

The Marquis Dazeglio has declined the appointment of Sardinian Plenipotentiary, in favor of Count Cavour.

Lord Clarendon leaves London to-day (26th) for Paris.

Count Buol was hourly expected.

The London Advertiser says that Austria and France both wished for the admission of Prussia, but Lord Palmerston absolutely insisted on her exclusion.

A Vienna correspondent of the Times professes to know that France and Austria have come to an understanding of the fifth point, and that England will be outvoted in the Conferences, if she attempts to make a casus quo non of the disarming of the eastern coast of the Black Sea.

France and Austria are likely to consult with England as to the non-fortification of the Aaland Isles, and will insist on the admission of Consuls into all ports of the Black Sea, but neither France nor Austria consider the raising of the Russian fortsoon the Circassian coast as a measure demanded by the interests of Europe.

Austria does not consider Nicolaieff a Black Sea port.

The London Times contains an editorial which, although boasting, betrays anxiety as to England's success in the approaching Congress.

Turkey.

The Sultan appeared at a ball at the English and French Embassies. It is believed he would not believe it!

The English dragoon barracks were accidentally burnt. Six lives lost.

There had been a fire at Varna also.

The Crimea.

The Allies have exploded the last of the Sebastopol docks.

Fort Nicholas is mined.

The Russians are heavily from the north side of Sebastopol.

Five English regiments are preparing to return home.

The French army received the news of peace very badly.

January 29. Six Russian boats attempted a surprise from the north side, but were discovered and repulsed by the French.

The announcement of peace caused excitement in the Russian army, and preparations making for an attack on Gen. Autemarle's division were countermanded.

The Principalities.

Vienna letters state that negotiations relative to the Principalities are still unsettled, Austria and France differing from England as to the propriety of according representative institutions. It is said that point will be reserved for settlement, at Paris, after the treaty of peace is signed.

Asia.

The Russians gave a fete to Gen. Williams and Jussif Pacha, at Tiflis, Jan. 22th. Advices from Trebizonde, to Jan. 19th state that the Russians had evacuated part of Turkish Armenia, and had retired to Erivan. Murray, British minister from Persia, is said to be at Tabreez.

Britain.

A debate occurred in the House of Commons Friday night, (15th.) Mr. Roebuck rose to call the attention of the House to relations with the United States, and moved for the production of all correspondence with the Government of the United States, relative to the conduct of Crampton. Roebuck commenced by impressing upon the House the necessity for the question to be properly understood in Britain, and that it should be ascertained who was to blame for the unsatisfactory state of England's relations with America. He remarked that the laws of the United States prohibited recruiting for foreign service, and that in the early days of the Republic, they had required the French Minister of that period to be removed for such infraction of laws. Their jealousy on this head was therefore only natural. He then proceeded to show from documents read at late trials in the United States, that Mr. Crampton knew he was breaking the law. Next he took measures to evade it, and thirdly, was supported in the evasion by the Government of Nova Scotia and the Governor General of Canada, and urged to it by the Home Government. Under these circumstances, Roebuck contended that the Government of the United States was justified in requiring the recall of Mr. Crampton, and that the apology which the British Government had tendered was a delusion upon the House and country. He therefore called first, for a specific answer to this question—"What instructions were given to Crampton?" and next, for an expression of opinion on the part of the House that they were no parties to this violation of the law of the United States. Mr. Hatfield seconded the motion. Lord Palmerston replied—defending the Government, and stating that the correspondence would be produced as soon as the last despatch from the American Government had been answered.

Lord Palmerston then launched into a fierce invective against Roebuck, whom he called the mouthpiece of calumnies uttered in the United States, and as holding base authority from the enemy. "Palmerston then continued:

"No man could more strongly feel the calamities which would arise from a contest between the British nation and the United States than were the sentiments of all the people of this country, but there was one thing to entertain friendly sentiments towards a kindred people, and another to have a feeling of self-respect. There were the sentiments of the people of this country, but there was one thing to entertain friendly sentiments towards a hundred people, and another to bestow the same on a nation. It was lamentable that the Government should be embarrassed with public feeling in a country where there should be no cause for it. He (Palmerston) was sorry that the Government had been unable to prevent the publication of the correspondence, but it was not in the power of the Government to prevent it. He
